KIDS COUNT PLAYERS

The Kids Count Players, a child abuse prevention program of Collin County Children's Advocacy Center in Plano, Texas, entertain children while imparting a special message about ways to stay safe from abuse. These wonderful puppets, operated by volunteers, perform a fun-filled program for kindergarten, first and second grade students. The performance includes engaging music, an explanation of the different types of abuse, information about personal boundaries, a discussion about the difference between secrets and surprises, and sends the very important message that "KIDS COUNT"!
